The amendment filed on Jan. 14, 2005 will be entered.

Applicant asserts that Chen teaches the use of polyisobutylene as a tackifier with a hydrophobic unsaturated aliphatic homopolymer and that Auguste et al and Chen fail to address increasing resistance to deterioration of the absorption capacity of a hydrocolloid adhesive mass. The said argument is persuasive and thus examiner withdraws the outstanding obviousness rejection. However, there is a double patenting issue.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 15-33 and 35-40 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-25 of U.S. Patent No. 6,051,748. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the hydrocolloid of claim 1 of said patent encompasses the instant cellulose derivative. Furthermore, claim 24 of said patent teach a cellulose derivative and the scope of the instant claim 1 encompasses that of said claim 24.
